Skyline National Bank Donates to Safe Harbor

December 7, 2020 | Independence, VA – Skyline National Bank is proud to announce a $1,000 donation to Safe Harbor, a non-profit community in Hickory, North Carolina that is focused on women's recovery.

"We were happy to donate to the Small Business Center to help fund entrepreneurs who are just starting new business," said DeAnna Pennell, Skyline National Bank's Hickory location Branch Manager.

Safe Harbor offers two main programs focused on rebuilding, renewing, and recovery. Their capstone program, Whole Woman Recovery Program, is a one-year residential program offered at no cost to participants. The goal of this program is to help women experience and maintain long-term recovery. In addition, Safe Harbor also offers the Greenleaf Transitional Housing program that provides furnished apartments for women and their children. This program provides affordable housing in a safe gated community while preparing women for successful, independent living. Safe Harbor also offers many other resources including recovery services, support groups and bible studies.
