Skyline National Bank Opens Loan Production Office in Abingdon, Virginia

INDEPENDENCE, VA – Skyline National Bank is pleased to announce the opening of its new loan production office (LPO) in Abingdon, Virginia. This expansion underscores the bank’s commitment to providing enhanced lending services and fostering economic growth in the region.

Leading the team at the Abingdon LPO are Area Executives Katelyn (Kate) Belcher and Kristen Blevins-White, who together bring a wealth of experience and local expertise. Kate, a native of the area, holds a bachelor’s degree in agribusiness from Virginia Tech and has held various roles in banking since beginning her career in 2016, including portfolio manager, branch manager, and government lending specialist. Kristen’s distinguished career in banking and finance includes a strong track record in loan origination, customer relationship management, and strategic business development. With their combined leadership and expertise, the office is well-equipped to provide outstanding service and customized financial solutions to meet the unique needs of local businesses.

“We are excited to bring our community-focused banking approach to Abingdon,” said Blake Edwards, President and CEO. “With both Kate and Kristen leading the team, we are confident that they will help deliver the personalized solutions that define Skyline National Bank and support the area’s business community.”
